REGISTERED INTERFACE

INTRODUCTION

We are pleased to introduce the new Registered Interface module, which allows you to view, manage, and control all interfaces registered for a selected property. With this module, you can enable, disable, or remove registered interfaces based on your access rights, making interface management more efficient and straightforward.

PREREQUISITES

To access and use the Registered Interface module, you must have the appropriate role access:

1. System Configuration Role:

- Access to view, search, and sort functionalities within the Registered Interface module.

2. Interface Setup and System Configuration Role:

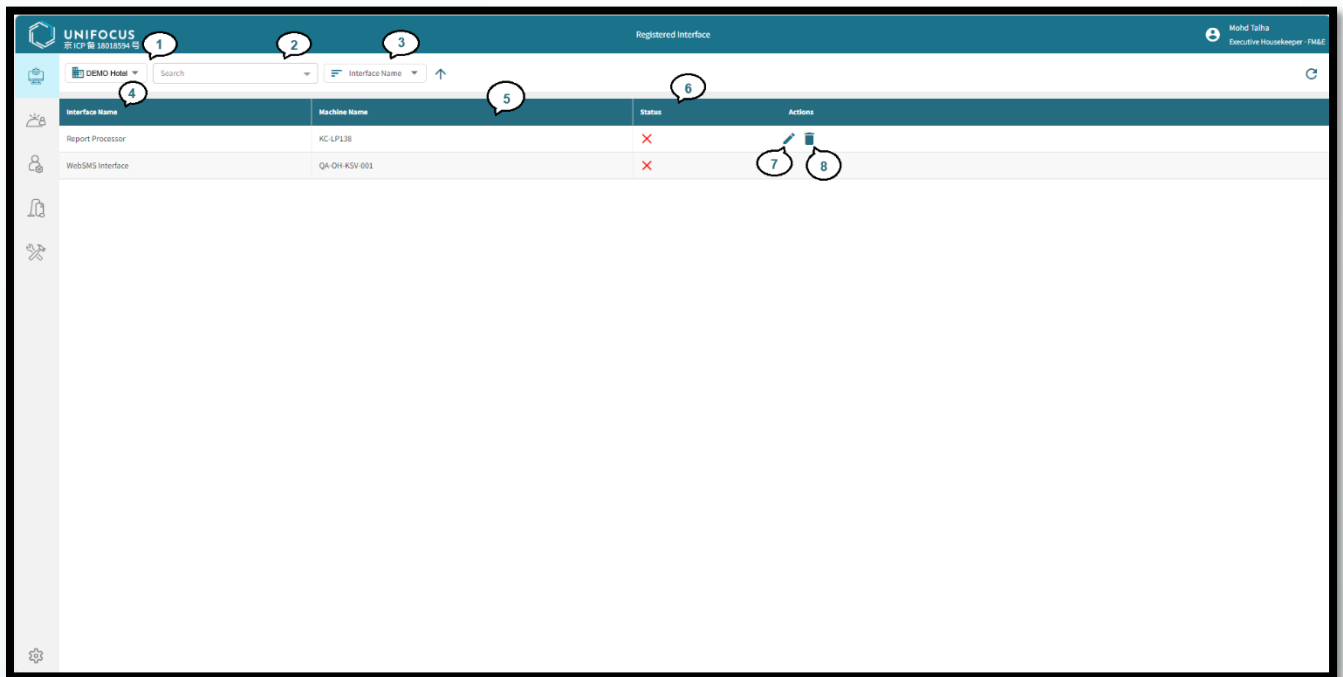

- Access to view, search, sort, edit (enable/disable), and remove functionalities within the Registered Interface module.

GETTING STARTED

To access the Registered Interface module:

1. Select the System Configuration menu option.
2. Go to the Interface Management section.
3. Select the Registered Interface module.

OVERVIEW

The Registered Interface module provides a user-friendly interface that includes the following components:

1. Multi-Property Drop-Down List:
  - Select the desired property to view its registered interfaces.
2. Search Field:
  - Enter the Interface Name or Machine Name to search for specific interfaces.
3. Sorting Options:
  - Sort the registered interfaces by Interface Name, Machine Name, or Status.
4. Interface Name:
  - Displays the list of interface names registered for the selected property.
5. Machine Name:
  - Shows the machine names associated with the respective registered interfaces.
6. Status:
  - Indicates the status (enabled or disabled) of each interface.
7. Edit Button:

- Click to enable or disable a specific interface.

8. Delete Button:

- Click to remove a registered interface from the system.
